It is difficult to understand the object to which the king of Abyssinia intends to devote the elaborate postage stamps which he is now having engraved and printed in Paris. There is no postage and no postal service in Abyssinia, and the Ethiopians have not yet developed the civilized mania for stamp collecting.

The "grapple" plant, a botanical oddity which grows along the edges of the Kalahari desert, has the general resemblance of a vegetable curiosity. It is provided with natural "grab-hooks," and if a sheep gets too near it is likely to be caught by the wool and held till it dies.

A curious prize is offered by the Bavarian National Institute for Fish Culture, namely, the sum of 100 marks ($5) for every male river eel which has attained the length of from fifty-five to sixty centimetres. The sudden calling together of the British cabinet council and the equally sudden meeting of the French cabinet has given rise to the report that there is serious trouble between the two nations. It will take considerable time to make people believe that these great powers will actually go to war with each other. But if they should, wouldn't the prices of American breadstuffs and provisions soar?

A French doctor has just discovered a new fisherman catch and cod and others do not. He found that the northern side of high mountain peaks the water would not boil, while on the southern side it did. Boston letter carriers are somewhat displeased at the outcome of their opposition to the rule of the postal authorities requiring the men to purchase their uniforms and accessories from the tailoring firm to which a contract was awarded. Accordingly the matter was referred to the attention of the authorities at Washington and it has been decided that the carriers may buy of any tailor they desire.

In a prehistoric cemetery recently uncovered at Montpellier, France, while workmen were excavating a water works reservoir, human skulls were found measuring 28, 31 and 32 inches in circumference. A few years ago a portion of the pavement in Grosvenor road, London, was lifted out of the pavement in a serious way. Before the workmen were sent to replace it numerous toolstools made their appearance in the cracks between the misplaced stone and its fellows. Investigation proved that the stone, which was two feet one way by four the other, and weighed 212 pounds, had actually been lifted out of place by the roadmen growing force of these soft, spongy fungi.

The memory remains intact and in perfect working order in cases where the left side of the brain is badly diseased or even if portions of it have been removed. From this the natural inference is that the right side of the brain is the seat of that most remarkable faculty, Lieut. Brady, who lost a portion of the right side of the brain from a gunshot wound in the Assam, where two-thirds of the officials are negroes, suffered a remarkable lapse of memory. After he had fully recovered he knew and could call by name all his white associates, but the negroes, whom he formerly knew as well as the whites, were perfect strangers to him.

A writer in Scribner's Magazine prophesies the displacement of the newspaper by the phonograph. Says the writer: "The voices of the whole world will be gathered up in the celluloid rolls, which the post will bring, morning by morning, to the subscribing hearers. Valets and ladies' maids will soon learn how to put them in place, the axle of the cylinder upon the two supports of the motor, and will carry them to the master or mistress at the hour of awakening. Lying soft and warm upon their pillow, they may hear it all, as if in a dream—foreign telegrams, financial news, humorous articles, the news of the day."

HAD HIS FOOT CRUSHED.

Lyman P. Arms, of this city, met with a serious accident on Wednes-

accident occurred about 50 miles from here upon the B. & N. M. Mr.
Arms attempted to get on board a car
when his foot slipped and he fell under the car, the wheels passing over his right foot. He was brought to this city and taken to the Lumbermen's Hospital for treatment. Dr.
Camp says that he will lose a large portion of his foot. Mr. Arms is a civil engineer, being the populist and democratic candidate for county surveyor, but it is not thought that the accident will prevent him pursuing his usual vocation.

An Imposing Demonstration.

was: bailed to speak there that evening.

and while a change of engines was being made, the club about 300 strong paraded through our principal streets to martial music furnished by the Duluth Band and a drum corps 20 strong. At the conclusion of the parade a Hon. C. A. Toomey delivered a short address from the vanguard of the Arlington, which was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The train left a few minutes later amid a deafening cheers of the assembled crowd.

The voters of this city will have the pleasure of hearing Mr. Towne at the opera house on the evening of November 1st. His few remarks on Wednesday showed him to be a most pleasing speaker, and a great treat can be looked for on the occasion of his visit here.

Our Opera House Manager held-up.
Mr. E. T. Davidson, manager of the opera house, had an exciting experience with two would-be highwaymen last night. It is needless to say that Mr. Davidson came out first best in the encounter.

Last night he left the city about 8 o'clock to go to St. Raphael's hospital, where Mrs. Davidson and son are patients. He had a lively team from Mr. J. C. Coates' livery stable, and al-
went well until he reached the point
where the road to the hospital and reformatory crosses the main Sherburne
county road. Just before coming out on the latter road he noticed two suspicious characters coming toward him.
One crossed over to the point where he should have to turn and the other remained behind. The man in advance suddenly cried out stop and made a lunge for the horse. This he missed, but caught the saddle of the harness. Mr. Davidson with admirable presence of mind seized the buggy whip and dealt the horse a blow. The latter turned sharply and dashed off into the thick underbrush to the left. The first man had to release his hold on the horse and al-
went well until he reached the point
where the road to the hospital and re-
formatory crosses the main Sherburne
county road. Just before coming out

MARRIED.

On Tuesday morning of this week, Mr. Jas. New, the popular front street plumber, was united in marriage to Miss Maria Lamb, also of this city. The ceremony was performed at the Catholic church by Rev. Fr. Lynch, Mr. Jas. Cody acting as groomsmen, and Miss Louise Bedore as bridesmaid. The happy couple went to housekeeping at once on Second street between Main and Kingwood, where they will be at home to all their friends. They have the best wishes of all in their new relation.

Mr. Joseph Keibler and Miss Agnes O'Connor were married on Wednesday morning at the Catholic church, Rev. Father Lynch officiating. Mr. Henry Linnemann was groomsmen and Miss Celia Nolan bridesmaid. The groom and bride left on a wedding tour at 8 o'clock that evening, the City Band, of which Mr. Keibler was a member, giving them a serenade at the train. Among the numerous wedding presents received by Mr. and Mrs. Keibler was a handsome clock by the members of the band. They have hosts of friends here who wish them every joy in their new relation.

HAD HIS FOOT CRUSHED.

Lyman P. Arms, of this city, met with a serious accident on Wednesday afternoon whereby he lost a large portion of his right foot. The accident occurred about 50 miles from here upon the B. & N. M. Mr. Arms attempted to get on board a car when his foot slipped and he fell under the car, the wheels passing over his right foot. He was brought to this city and taken to the Lumbermen's Hospital for treatment. Dr. Camp says that he will lose a large portion of his foot. Mr. Arms is a civil engineer, being the populist and democratic candidate for county surveyor, but it is not thought that the accident will prevent him pursuing his usual vocation.

An Imposing Demonstration.

The people of Brainerd were treated on Wednesday afternoon to a street parade with all the accompaniments. The parade was by the Young Men's Republican Club, of Duluth, which was on its way to St. Cloud, escorting the Hon. C. A. Towne, our next congressman, who was billed to speak there that evening. The delegation came in on a special train, which arrived here about 4:30, and while a change of engines was being made, the club about 300 strong paraded through our principal streets to martial music furnished by the Duluth Band and a drum corps 20 strong. At the conclusion of the parade a Hon. C. A. Towne delivered a short address from the vanguard of the Arlington, which was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The train left a few minutes later amid the deafening cheers of the assembled crowd.

The voters of this city will have the pleasure of hearing Mr. Towne at the opera house on the evening of November 1st. His few remarks on Wednesday showed him to be a most pleasing speaker, and a great treat can be looked for on the occasion of his visit here.

Our Opera House Manager Held-up.

M. E. T. Davidson, manager of the opera house, had an exciting experience with two would-be highwaymen last night. It is needless to say that Mr. Davidson came out first best in the encounter.

Last night he left the city about 8 o'clock to go to St. Raphael's hospital, where Mrs. Davidson and son are patients. He had a lively team from Mr. Jas. Coates' heavy sleigh and all went well until he reached the point where the road to the hospital and reformatory crosses the main Sherburne county road. Just before coming out on the latter road he noticed two suspicious characters coming toward him.

One crossed over to the point where he should have to turn and the other remained behind. The man in advance suddenly cried out stop and made a lunge for the horse. This he missed, but caught the saddle of the harness. Mr. Davidson with admirable presence of mind seized the buggy whip and dealt the horse a blow. The latter turned sharply and dashed off into the thick underbrush to the left. The first man had to release his hold and fell, the horse and buggy passing over him. The other fellow succeeded in grasping the braces of the buggy-top, but Davidson turned and dealt him several cuts with the whip. This rough treatment, with the thick brush through which the horse was running, also compelled him to let go his hold, and the man who has successfully managed an opera house in St. Cloud, made his escape. He reached the hospital by a circuitous route, the only thing worse for the encounter being the horse and buggy.

He reported the matter to the police this morning.—St. Cloud Journal Press.

DEMOCRACY DEMORALIZED.

Such Seems to Be the Condition of the Party in Crow Wing County.

Judging from the action of the Convention at the Court House last Saturday.

A MONGREL TICKET NOMINATED.

The democratic county convention convened at the court house last Saturday afternoon as per call issued, and as usual when a lot of the "unwashed" get together, a wildly hilarious time was enjoyed. If the party has not been entirely demoralized heretofore, last Saturday's gathering of the faithful (!) completes the job, for you can scarcely find a democrat, not even one of the three or four on the ticket nominated, but what is disgusted with the whole proceeding. The ticket nominated is made up of republicans, populists, democrats and what-nots, prohibitionists alone being excluded. The convention started in by endorsing a populist, then flopped over and endorsed a republican, then nominated a democrat, and then repeated the order throughout the entire ticket. The fine Italian hand of Bro. Stivers was discernible through out the entire proceedings, for no one, not even J. Donnelly himself, could have done the flopping act so easily and skillfully as did the Journal man on this occasion. Much practice has made him perfect.

The convention was called to order by Committeeman Johnson, who read the call and stated that the first business would be the selection of a chairman. This simple business started a wrangle, which was at length solved by all nominees declining except J. H. Koop, who was elected, and after a similar unseemly proceeding J. M. Elder was elected secretary.

On motion the chair appointed a committee on credentials, which, strange to say, made a speedy report, which was adopted. The committee reported 26 delegates entitled to seats in the convention, 19 of whom were from the city and 7 from the country.

The chair then announced that nominations for auditor were in order, and H. C. Stivers arose and moved that the convention endorse the candidacy of Chas. Banks, the populist nominee. This action was in pursuance to an agreement said to have been made by the bosses for the populist endorsement of Dr. Hemstead for the senate. Some of the straight, dyed-in-the-wool democrats did not approve of this, hence Jas. Cullen, representing this faction, moved an amendment to the motion to leave the place blank, but the amendment was voted down and the original motion was passed and Banks declared the nominee. The vote stood 15 for and 11 against endorsement.

John T. Frater, the republican nominee, was next endorsed for treasurer without opposition.

Nominations for sheriff were called for and Geo. Stratton was nominated by acclamation, the convention thus far having nominated a populist, a republican and a democrat.

Nominations for register of deeds being next in order, a motion was made to endorse A. Mahlum, the republican nominee. This raised the ire of L. P. White, Jr., who, remembering how neatly Mr. Mahlum had laid him out two years ago, vigorously protested against this action, saying he preferred leaving the place blank to endorsing a republican. Jas. Cullen arose and enquired what kind of a convention it was, anyhow. He thought he had been elected to a democratic convention, but so far nothing but populists and republicans had been favored, and for one he kicked against such action. Nevertheless Mr. Mahlum was endorsed by a vote of 19 to 7, and formally declared the nominee.

The convention then for a change nominated W. H. Mantor, a democrat, for county attorney, and J. J. McCarthy, also a democrat, for clerk of the court, both nominations being made by acclamation.

Lyman Arms, the populist candidate, and R. K. Whiteley, the republican candidate, were pitted against each other for the endorsement of the convention for surveyor, and Arms was successful, the vote standing 24 to 1.

John Hurley, a strong republican, was next nominated by acclamation for judge of probate, and Dr. J. Martin was selected as the nominee for superintendent of schools. W. J. Bain was nominated for coroner, and M. McFadden for court commissioner.

For commissioner, John Bubar was selected from the second district and John McCarthy from the fourth district.

The matter of appointing a county executive committee was on motion left in the hands of the chairman, Mr. Cullen sarcastically suggesting that the matter be left to the republicans and populists, as they had met with more favor at the hands of the convention than democrats.

On motion convention adjourned.

The republican city convention that convened at the court house on Wednesday evening was a most harmonious gathering, and as a result a ticket has been nominated that is invincible.

The convention was called to order by A. E. Pennell in the absence of the chairman of the committee, and the convention effected a temporary organization by electing A. E. Pennell chairman and Wm. Barsch secretary.

Labar for city treasurer, and J. H. Warner for municipal judge, with out opposition, the nominations being made by acclamation.

On motion no nomination was made for special judge.

The convention then proceeded to nominate a candidate for assessor, and a spirited contest ensued. The names of four gentlemen were put in nomination as follows: J. E. Johnson, T. M. Reilly, T. E. Smith and A. G. Trommald. On motion an informal ballot was taken which resulted as follows: Smith 6, Reilly 5, J. M. Johnson 2, A. G. Trommald 10.

A formal ballot was then ordered which resulted as follows: Smith 9, Reilly 7, Johnson 3, Trommald 8.

There being no choice another ballot was taken as follows: Smith 7, Reilly 5, Johnson 1, Trommald 11. No choice.

Second ballot—Smith 4, Reilly 8, Trommald 12. No choice.
Third ballot—Smith 3, Reilly 8, Trommald 13. Trommald having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared the nominee.

While waiting for the committee on credentials to report, the convention authorized the chair to appoint a city executive committee of 5 one from each ward. Convention adjourned.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen

Mill, Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"A year ago, twenty years ago, in regard to certain skin diseases, I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the job for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

As a republican vote getter last Saturday's democratic convention was a howling success.

The democrats have a county ticket in the field but it is such a conglomerate mass of mixture that the average democrat hides his head in shame when it is mentioned.

The re-nomination of Jas. McMurtry for alderman in the second ward was a deserved compliment for a most able and efficient officer. His election is only a matter of form.

If you want the business of the county conducted as you would your own private affairs, vote for A. P. Farrar for commissioner from the 4th district. Mr. Farrar's retirement from the position of commissioner would be a public misfortune, as he has been a veritable watchdog of the county treasury for several years past.

Mayor Hemstead's scheme of endorsing populists on the county ticket in return for populist endorsement on senatorial ticket was a very cute one indeed but it will cost him 300 votes in the city of Brainerd. When it comes to cramming these things down the throats of his constituents they rebel, and rightfully, too.

Every republican should remember, when casting his ballot on election day, that a vote for Dr. Hemstead for senator means a vote for a democratic or populist U. S. senator, and the continuance in power of the party whose pernicious principles have caused the present hard times, and the consequent loss of millions of property. Vote for the republican candidate and prosperity.

Republicans of this city and county should not allow themselves to be induced to vote for democratic members of the legislative ticket because of local interests. We can never be prosperous locally when the country at large is in financial distress, and prosperity will not return with democratic economic principles in force. Remember a vote for a democratic state senator means a vote for a democratic United States senator.

It is highly amusing, if not positively impudent, to hear the Journal editor call into question the democracy of such men as W. S. McClellan, when the latter gentleman has been an uncompromising democrat almost from his infancy, while the Journal editor has been republican, democrat, socialist and what-not in the few years of his residence in this city. A man who flapped from the republican party into the democratic party only a few years ago for the paltry consideration of a few hundred dollars' worth of land office printing each year, is hardly in a position to question the democracy of life-long democrats, simply because they object to prostituting the party to ad populism.

How Will He Vote.
As our genial mayor is the nominee of both the democratic and populist parties for senator, there are a great many people in the district who would like to know, before election, how he would vote on certain questions wherein the principles of the two parties differ should he be successful.

For the information of the public we would like to have the doctor state who he intends to support for the U. S. senate, a democrat or populist?

Will he vote for the state control of the saloons, as provided in the populist platform, on which he is a candidate.

Will he vote for female suffrage as provided in the same platform.

Will he vote for the government control of the railroads, as provided in that platform?

It is quite patriotic for the Baltimoreans to raise a monument to Francis Scott Key, but "The Star Spangled Banner" will always be in itself his best monument.

Great preparations are being made in Sweden for the celebration on Dec. 9, the 300th anniversary of the birth of Gustave Adolphus, Sweden's great and famous ruler, whose sword carried him almost always to victory. King Oscar has issued a proclamation regarding the celebration.

The winner of the recent Baden jubilee gold cup is Baron von Munchhausen, who is not only a namesake, but a blood descendant of the baron whose voracious tales of travel and adventure, as told by Rudolf Ruspe, have been immortalized by Cruikshank and Gustave Doré.

It is difficult to understand the object to which the king of Abyssinia intends to devote the elaborate postage stamps which he is now having engraved and printed at Paris. There is no postage and no postal service in Abyssinia, and the Ethiopians have not yet developed the civilized mania for stamp collecting.

The "grapple" plant, a botanical oddity which grows along the edges of the Kalahari desert, has the general resemblance of an immense starfish. Each ray or arm of this vegetable curiosity is provided with a sharp, pointed tip, and if a sheep gets too near it is likely to be caught by the heart and held till it dies.

Mr. Jansen recently exhibited to the French Academy of Sciences the clockwork of the instruments placed in the observatory on top of Mount Blanc. It requires winding up only once in eight months, and is lubricated with a material which has been exposed to a cold of 80 deg. below zero without freezing.

A curious prize is offered by the Bavarian National Institute for Fish Clocks, namely the sum of 100 marks ($5) for every male river eel which has attained the length of from fifty-five to sixty centimetres. The offer is the result of a late controversy between two experts, Dr. von Brunn of Hamburg and the fish inspector, Vogel of Harburg.

The sudden calling together of the British cabinet council and the equally sudden meeting of the French cabinet has given rise to the report that there is serious trouble between the two nations. It will take considerable time to make people believe that these great powers will actually go to war with each other. But if they should, wouldn't the pieces of America breadstuffs and provisions soar?

A French doctor has just discovered why some fishermen catch cod and others do not. He found that on the northern side of high submarine reefs the cod would not bite, while on the southern side they did. By attaching thermometers to fishing lines he further found that most fish was taken at a temperature between 45 and 50 deg., and that at 45 deg., with a depth of about fourteen fathoms, the catch was best.

Boston letter carriers are somewhat pleased at the outcome of their opposition to the rule of the postal authorities requiring the men to purchase their uniforms and accessories from the tailoring firm to which a contract was awarded. The men all along felt that they could have outfits cheaper if permitted to select the option of the dealer. Accordingly the matter was brought to the attention of the authorities at Washington and it has been decided that the carriers may buy of any tailor they desire.

In a prehistoric cemetery recently uncovered at Montpellier, France, workmen were excavating a water-work reservoir, when they found a human skeleton, 31 and 32 inches in circumference. The bones which were found with the skull were also of gigantic proportions. These relics were sent to the Paris academy, and a learned "savant" who lectured on the find says that they belonged to a race of men between ten and fifteen feet in height.

A few years ago a portion of the pavement in Grosvenor road, London, was lifted out of its place in some mysterious way. Before the workmen were sent to replace it numerous toadstools made their appearance in the cracks between the misplaced stone and its fellows. Investigation proved that the stone, which was two feet one way by four the other, and weighed 212 pounds, had actually been lifted out of place by the resistless growing force of these soft, spongy fungi.

The memory remains intact and in perfect working order in cases where the left side of the brain is badly diseased or even if portions of it have been removed. From this the natural inference is that the right side of the brain is the seat of that remarkable faculty, Lieut. Brady, who lost a portion of the right side of the brain from a gunshot wound while in Assam, where two-thirds of the officials are negroes, suffered a remarkable lapse of memory. After he had fully recovered he kept a list of names, but he could call only the names of his white associates, but the negroes, whom he formerly knew as well as the whites, were perfect strangers to him.

A writer in Scribner's Magazine prophesies the displacement of the newspaper by the phonograph. Says the writer: "The voice which the world will be gathered up in the cold, cold rolls, which the post will bring, morning by morning, to the subscribing hearers. Valets and ladies' maids will soon learn how to put them in place, the axle of the cylinder upon the two supports of the motor, and will carry them to the motor or stress at the hour of awakening. Lying soft and warm upon their pillow, they may hear it all, as if in a dream—foreign telegrams, financial news, humorous articles, the news of the day."

WRECK IN WISCONSIN

THE COLD-BLOODED DEED OF UNKNOWN DESPERADOS.

They Saw the Supports From Under a Trestle, Causing the Partial Wreck of a Passenger Train—The Fireman Instantly Killed.

Rhineland, Wis., Oct. 10.—Nothing but unaccountable good luck prevented the worst passenger wreck of the year on the Soo line. The Boston and Minneapolis limited, which leaves here at 1:30, went through a trestle between Heath Junction and Bradley. The stringers and piles had been saved after the east-bound limited passed the place an hour and forty minutes before. The rails were left with no support and the engine crashed through. They were going thirty-five miles an hour, and instead of dropping into the opening, the engine struck the solid track beyond and turned over on its side.

A Sympathetic Traveler Makes an Accidental Discovery.

A man had occasion to go to the union depot yesterday afternoon to meet his wife. When he had got to the station he found his train was half an hour late, and he bought a paper and sat down.

Not long after he had seated himself
a rather pretty girl, who wore a pink waist and had red cheeks and clear blue eyes, and who looked to be not over 17, came and sat down next to him. The man who was waiting for his wife took a casual look at the girl
and said: "Back to his paper."

"This is another pretty young girl,
who also has red cheeks and clear blue eyes and a fresh complexion, and all that sort of thing, came along and stopped in front of the first girl. The second girl looked at the first and said: "Why, Nellie, what do you think of this? The first girl said: "What?"

"A dollar, and she told us it was only 50 cents; and I haven't got enough to buy a ticket; and she said, dear, I don't know what we will do."

"She sank down beside Nellie, and the two looked at the floor with very suspicious faces. Presently the first girl looked up and said: "I'll take a walk around the room. Perhaps there is somebody here I know; and she went out of the room and came back with her face more gloomy than before. "Nobody here I ever saw before," she said.

"Why, Nellie, what are you looking at me for? I'm going to take the ticket man just now," she said. "Perhaps he will take what we've got and let us go. The other girl said: "No, don't take it. It's yours. She went out with tears in her eyes. "He won't," she said sadly.

"The man who was waiting for his wife heard of this. His heart was touched. So he leaned over and said:
"I beg pardon, but, ladies, I—that is,
I—won't allow me to help you in your hour of trouble?"

"The pretty young ladies started and
looked at the man with frightened
faces. The other girl said: "But that intention was honorable, and, after
many protests, and arranging for
payment and the change of money and
all that, he gave the pretty girls $1.15,

CHAPTER III—(Continued).

He looked at her musingly. "You don't want much assistance," he said.
"You will soon forget the best that has sheltered, the hand that has fed you.
Well, it is the way of youth and wonder."

"You flushed angrily. "I am not ungrateful," she said. "But can one help being tired?"

"Certainly one cannot," he asserted.
"Are you tired of your home here?"

"Genna is very good," the girl said
reluctantly. "But then—"

"What then?" he asked, with a curious interest in drawing out this character, and the selfishness and impatience that might so easily be his tone.

"She is so good, and so kind, and so patient, and so—"

"Certainly the virtues seem easier of attainment when a woman is ill-favored than when she is beautiful."

"And is Genna your sister of whom Teresa speaks?"

"But she loves you very dearly?"

"Yes, but it is selfish to wish to keep me buried here. I did not speak of her to you, and she would not like to see it, and she was as shocked and frightened as if I had said something which wicked."

"What then do you do in Florence?"

"See it, of course. See its beautiful streets, and the theaters and churches, and the lovely things it holds, and how the great ladies are dressed, and the palaces where the nobles live. Oh, it would be beautiful!"

"I would not make you more discontented with your life here afterward.
Perhaps Genna is right."

"You too, are against me, then? One would think she was wrong to wish to leave one's home, even for a little while."

"The lovely, pouting, wistful face looking at you reproachfully that would forget all prudence."

"Perhaps one, it is not of wrong or right I think—it is only of your safety.
Have you seen any of the great beauty as you possess? It might bring a king!"

"She looked at him with wonder.

all rosy and happy, came along and said:
"Why, Nellie, what shall we do? The first girl said: "The fare's a dollar."

"The man who was waiting for his wife got up and went to the door.
He had seen a great light. They were the same girls—Buffalo Express.

"The pretty young ladies started and
looked at the man with frightened
faces. The other girl said: "But that
intention was honorable, and, after
many protests, and arranging for
payment and the change of money and
all that, he gave the pretty girls $1.15,

to get their train. It so happened that the man's wife did not come that train, and he went down to another train in the evening. While he was sitting on a bench waiting for his wife, he thought of the pretty girls and their experience and concluded he had done a right worthy act. As he was in the

On Tuesday morning of this week, Mr. Jas. New, the popular front street plumber, was united in marriage to Miss Maria Lamb, also of this city. The happy couple went to housekeeping at once on Second street between Main and Kingwood, where they will be at home to all their friends. They have the best wishes of all in their new relation.

Lyman P. Arms, of this city, met with a serious accident on Wednesday afternoon whereby he loses a large portion of his right foot. The accident occurred about 50 miles from here upon the B. & N. M. Mr. Arms attempted to get on board a car when his foot slipped and he fell under the car, the wheels passing over his right foot. He was brought to this city and taken to the Lumbermen's Hospital for treatment. Dr. Camp says that he will lose a large portion of his foot. Mr. Arms is a civil engineer, being the populist and democratic candidate for county surveyor, but it is not thought that the accident will prevent him pursuing his usual vocation.

An Impending Demonstration.

The voters of Brainerd were treated on Wednesday afternoon to a street parade with all the accompaniments. The parade was by the Young Men's Republican Club, of Duluth, which was on its way to St. Cloud, escorting the Hon. C. A. Towne, our next congressman, who was hailed to speak there that evening. The delegation came in on a special train, which arrived here about 4:30, and while a change of engines was being made, the club about 300 strong paraded through our principal streets to martial music furnished by the Duluth Band and a drum corps 20 strong. At the conclusion of the parade Hon. C. A. Towne delivered a short address from the vanguard of the Arlington, which was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The train left a few minutes later amid the deafening cheers of the assembled crowd.

The voters of this city will have the pleasure of hearing Mr. Towne at the opera house on the evening of November 1st. His few remarks on Wednesday showed him to be a most pleasing speaker, and a great treat can be looked for on the occasion of his visit here.

Our Opera House Manager Held-up.

Mr. E. T. Davidson, manager of the opera house, had an exciting experience with two would-be highwaymen last night. It is needless to say that Mr. Davidson came out first best in the encounter.

Last night he left the city about 8 o'clock to go to St. Paul, where he was to attend to the business of the opera house. He had a lively team from Mr. Jno. Coates' livery stable, and all went well until he reached the point where the road to the hospital and reformatory crosses the main Sherburne county road. Just before coming out on the latter road he noticed two suspicious characters coming toward him. One crossed over to the path, and the other remained behind. The man in advance suddenly cried out stop and made a lunge for the horse. This he missed, but caught the saddle of the buggy, and Davidson turned and dealt him several cuts with the whip. This rough treatment, with the thick brush through which the horse was running, had compelled him to let go his hold, and the man who has successfully managed an opera house in St. Cloud, made his escape. He reached the hospital by a circuitous route, the party there turned and dealt him several cuts with the whip.
